

Having Bad Days Can Make You Stronger | DailyVee 614

The best part about having your parents be your parents When they're when you're on social media they only thing they couldn't do is take the phone which is I'm a purebred entrepreneur for real for real for real like documented That is Sunshine morning walk talk or morning sitting on my ass in the car talk Some days are just gloomy Not every day you're gonna wake up and be like I'm gonna dominate the world Like getting into that mindset of being able to grind through a day that doesn't feel as awesome or you know getting comfortable with the uncomfortable I think so much of of today's world's anxiety and unhappiness is around us We demonize losing that we don't realize like losing an adversity is the foundation of success and like competence and ability like the ability to grind through a fucking day where it's fucking raining and disgusting right after summer You're like fuck this shit being able to fucking grind through that 789 10 whatever Fucking the reality of your world is That's good stuff That's all we need to talk more about So we got clap up for all the people that persevere through days that they don't want to getting comfortable with micro adversities is powerful Have the best day ever Vor Nation What's good uh really excited to do Uh another live episode back in the office in New York with one of my favorite families on Earth The Mills are here all four of them that always makes it the most fun parents fear for kids to be in situations that are challenging has destroyed the kid Parents continue to over coddle Children and what what they think they're doing is helping and what they're doing is they're signaling to the kid I don't think you're capable of doing shit without my help which then renders that kid to not be confident A lot of times kids figure things out and it's the hardest balance because you you want to give your kids more than you had and you have all this knowledge and you you want to protect them every every every way and and it is it's detrimental and we've and I think that's why people are like oh the kids are so well grounded because as much as we did that we we did try to have them fall when they on their own People are struggling out there with this conversation and they're blaming things They'd rather blame Tik Tok and the phone for their lack of strategic parenting We lack accountability on the subject matter from the kids' level and the parents level and I think you for sit in a very unique place to make a massive impact on the world on this And I will continue behind the scenes to encourage you to make content around this because you can really help people thoughtful real conversations about human dynamics That's how you change the world in a positive way And I think you have a lot of credibility in this arena and are sitting with a lot of stuff in your head and your stomach that you haven't brought out yet And I hope to see you do that be in No Hey how are you Nice to meet you Such a pleasure How are you Great great pleasure Great to see you Everybody Labor Day is funny because I hated school so much So still to this day I'm 46 years old and when Labor Day comes around I still have weird feelings about like being nervous and upset because my brain still says we're going back to school Comma the New York Jets are my favorite thing on earth So I also get feelings of the football season is about to start though The last decade has been pretty unbearable So um and I also really love yesterday like the Tuesday after Labor Day is one of the weirdest days of the year for me It's like this wild hard reset from like the two weeks that I'm actually calm because I know everyone's checked out to I've got to get three months worth of work done in one Tuesday because we're fucking back and let's go hard You know what I mean So it's like it's a very funny time of year I see I see You want to freak me out when I invested in Tumblr I called my brother and I said AJ Tumblr is gonna be bigger than Facebook and Twitter It's going to be the biggest one of them all And he said why And I said because Facebook and Twitter you follow people Tumblr you follow things you're interested in And so even back then I was fascinated by the interest graph over the social graph What tiktok has tapped into in the last three years has completely changed and will change everything we're all doing And is the answer to your question what we need to win on now is creative that is advertising that is educating or entertaining And everybody here has to leave with two things One we need to actually get into the creative business and make things that people want to watch Two We need to make it for many different consumer segmentation and go up and then see the common ground and then understand what our brand stands for based on 37 different consumer segmentation of relevance Once you can understand the upside down model of how brands are built because the internet now rules not the television Then you can really start to understand what to do Hi Ben Yeah Awesome Awesome My son hold on one second My ma baby bear I'm gonna call you in a little bit I love you A friend of mine just said that his dad picked up his call every time he called and his dad was a big executive and like literally from that second on I'm like if my kids call um I don't give a fuck what I'm doing I'm picking up dude Honestly I think that was the coolest fucking thing because ironically I got a $15 million a year business I'm making money hand over fist successful I have contracts coming in left and right I can do whatever I want But I don't know my family I made a choice at that moment to close it down and choose my family to do that That's a big deal It was the craziest fucking thing I ever did Honestly thinking back like how long was that happening in your subconscious Or was it very quick Um uh Yeah it was it was probably building for about two years and it was building and I got to the point where it's like OK I'm gonna I'm gonna be dead and they're gonna have more money you know So we good I don't got a break So I just said to myself like fuck it It's not worth the money I'd rather have the family and love it I love it I'm running super late because I'm enjoying this shit I gotta go I'm enjoying this real pleasure Thank you so much Good to see you again Real pleasure Mama said I'm passionate Ok I'm blunt I'm ashing it Make that check I'm cashing it Take that check I'm smashing it then passing it No cap in it all my time I'm taxing it Close my eyes I'm flashing me down I'm back again I'm passing it Ok I'm blunt I'm ashing it make that check I'm cashing it take that check I'm smashing it and pass an all new season of coffee and commerce Super excited to be with my co-host and the legend himself Mr Gary Vu There's a guy in the comments right now saying did uh DJ T love goes stop lying You guys it's full of shit He goes you all been in hustle You guys got lucky And I think a lot about the makeup of that comment and like really believing in that I'm very empathetic to people being cynical or like not fully trusting We live in a very complex world and I I think it's so practical to be optimistic and give to others because I I really think when you do good things happen to you I just actually think it's very logical but I was also raised by an optimistic mother My father was raised by a pessimistic mother and he's more like my friend in the comments here You guys got lucky It's cynical It's a jealousy and envy framework And I don't see that as a bad thing I don't get mad at that comment I actually have deep compassion for it I want everybody to see what just happened DGT Love just said I apologize if I offended anyone I'm working the life out of me and I'm being drained This is something I want everybody who's been watching to watch I love this dude And instead of what most people do on shows like this when he was coming with the heat early on and somebody behind the scenes would have banned him or the public face that's paying attention like me would have shit on him We come with real conversations and empathy We had a conversation here for the last 10 minutes and look what it leads to And this is the civility that this country desperately needs We have that like of course people should see the world differently We come from different angles different but we have to have the capacity to not be in such conflict And that's how you lead to great things in organizations in governments in families And like I'm excited about that This is like made my day this gt love post It made my day and like I always think I'm right but in the face of being wrong I'm like fuck it I'm wrong and that humility and like I love that anyway I gotta run I'll let you guys go and we'll talk soon Thank you guys Go the hand All right Put it tantrums They selling trauma as drama to scam you streets and they s from New York before dollar slices When I saw the slice is like a buck 50 in the last like 100 days I've gotten so much more back into like hard life like you know how ebsen flows like you know right Like interest and things of that nature And so it's like it would be fun to chop up that cars a little bit Yeah It it's interesting I'm very like that I've always been like that like running through patterns like I'll always be into the same stuff but it's like peaks and valleys right I think so I think it's very human and like like the last 69 I've been on like ebay completed items on cards more in the last 100 days than the prior year By the way be friends is my destiny because of how I think about this stuff Like all this stuff is my garage sale pop culture before there was ebay when there was no logic literally no data for what I was doing Other than if you went to an antique store and saw somebody selling it and you're like oh that's what it's worth I was garaged selling in 92 93 buying Happy days Board games buying I bought 1000 human man figures when there was no logic to what is this worth If anything back to a big point we made tonight the cat from an investing standpoint is out of the bag But if you're really doing it to do it for real investment I think that there's still a substantial delta between the obvious and the speculation What's the quick selfies that I'm out here Five figures six figures seven figures Now we're talking digits She was saying what we saying I was saying I'm a little different pulling a big body color man Stars in the ceiling massages show the rust for the love when he not Indeed *** 10 that he fuck it all her No fucking I used to sleep on the floor I heard the
