

Reacting to Stories of Wolf Pack Slaughters

The Joe Rogan experience It's like we have these ideas about what these things are That's based on a bullshit version of them including the Yellowstone version when we were in Yellowstone You you could hang out 10 ft from an elk They're just right there They don't worry about people at all They're hanging out in the visitor center they're laying down in front of everybody that was probably not September then because they weren't they weren't r no no it was the summer time But it was it was still it was totally alien behavior like completely domesticated and just imagine what it was like when they reintroduced wolves into that area Oh God bloodbath Because this is this is the animal that you're dealing You're forcing an animal to be reintegrated with the most ferocious death So you think there's too many of them You think it's imbalanced You think they shouldn't have killed off the wolves Ok Well now what now you're just gonna all these cute elk that have been hanging out at the visitor center are just gonna get butchered and they don't know what the fuck a wolf is They've had generation after generation after generation No wolves They're like no wolves Great We're just out here hanging out No the occasional mountain lion whatever whatever but an occasional mountain lion is nothing like a pack of wolves The pack of wolves makes a whole lot more wolves and they all stay together and they hunt together They got a process for killing They got it down they got it down You know you get some sort of telepathy or something you've seen where they communicate where one wolf will tire out the next wolf will fill in like a little relay team wearing out one animal you know the prey animal And it's uh yeah they're just they'll wipe stuff out just like the brown bear and those you know those seven brown bear they're just they're born to kill they don't know when to stop you know So it's not I saw somebody said on my page I said well wouldn't they kill and just sit come back and just eat eat off that for later and you know live off that one kill I'm like what what are you talking about Go on rampages sometimes you you flip that switch on they're killing everything Yeah they're not like native Americans They only want to like kill what every piece of the sound No they're not like that They don't have any they don't have any idea of conservationism that their idea is to just kill everything that's in front of them and there was a uh what was it recently There was a crazy one where this pack of wolves killed like an enormous number of elk It was like 18 elk Something crazy Just went on a ramp that just I don't know what happened or how they they got so many of them but it happens with livestock all the time Yeah Well can you see if you could find it It was like surplus killing I believe it was in Wyoming if I remember correctly But they were shocked They were like Jesus they just killed them They didn't even they weren't even eating them They just went on a rampage They weren't hungry That I mean that's what they're born to do Wolfpack slaughters 19 Elk in Rare Surplus killing So it is in 2016 It's not rare though I mean so even even that word rare Well who's saying Rare Well I think it's rare to get that many I wonder I wonder what the circumstances were where they could kill that many There's there's a photo of all the lined up Right It's horrible Look at that That's crazy Yeah I just I'm not convinced that it's rare I think it's rare that we find out about it How many wolves did that That's what I want to know I don't know I wanna know how many wolves if there's 19 what do you got 50 wolves up there You got 100 wolves Like are there fucking super pacs up there that we don't know about I don't I I they have a good accounting of how many wolves are up there Oh it says nine wolves wolves Yeah I was gonna say I don't think it would take that many to do that That's incredible because those are all see it's 17 calves So that's that's kind of the point with that Musco video is those were calves They don't they can't run and two adults 17 calves and two adults I mean they they can't run like a full grown what Muscox or Elk or anything else So they're they're pretty much just right for the picking That's bear Even black bear will follow elk around when they know it's calving season right when the calf is born they'll kill it L said L also described the kill to CNN as sport killing Although the consensus among biologists and wildlife officials is that wolves do not hunt for sport but sometimes kill more than they can eat at one point especially in winter when frigid temperatures preserve the killed prey for later consumption You know what I bet though I bet they can't help themselves when they see calves I bet it's like the switch is on Yeah it's like a kitten with a ball of yarn roll a ball of yarn in front of a kitten Just if they see babies like baby moose baby deer baby elk like the time to kill You don't get a chance They're babies for a short amount of time You gotta get them Now somebody else said that too that they didn't know animals killed just for the fun of I'm like you ever seen a house cat bro House cats kill literally billions of animals a year Or feral cats Really Most mostly outdoor cats I mean it's all it's I bet a lot of the killing is done by actual feral cats but a lot of it is done by people's pets
