

Will We See Aliens In Our Lifetime?

The Joe Rogan experience But Pumas are you know an established animal to to have like some cryptozoological creature like Bigfoot that's undetected But it's fun It's fun I wanna believe But I don't really well that's like in the ocean Like they find some big fish you know or some big well like extra like some and you're like I don't know dude we never knew it was down there The compelling there's two I think aliens could live in the o so I mean that's how much that was Jeremy Corbell was talking about that the other day that they um you know it's hard it's hard to say like what kind of information he's getting how accurate it is But they're basically saying think about the movie Abyss where the aliens lived underwater He was like that's probably what's going on but there's some sort of alien base underwater or some meeting place where that's where they hide that's where they go to be undetected Do you think you're going to see it in your lifetime Bigfoot or aliens Aliens Like uh you know where it's like oh like we have to like talk to them now We have to interact with them There are there's a video that is impossible to ignore There's some things that are impossible to ignore And then there's eyewitness testimonies of people who are rock solid totally dependable like fighter pilots who have seen some things like uh the best examples this guy Commander David Fra who was off the coast of San Diego in 2004 and this is corroborated by multiple points of data They uh had this um this tracking system that tracks things above earth's atmosphere and they found this thing went from above 60,000 ft above sea level to 50 ft above sea level in less than a second They have no idea how it's doing this They they have no idea There's no method of propulsion that's visible They followed this thing they locked onto it it blocked their radar it blocked their tracking systems rather and then it jetted off at an impossible rate of speed and then the NTS uh relocated this thing at their cat point The cat point is where the fighter pilots when they're doing this uh test they're doing this uh exercise They were supposed to meet at this very specific point and that's where this thing had gone Like this thing had read their their manifest and knew like or read their their plans and knew where they were going What's well that that is way more compelling to me than Bigfoot the Bigfoot thing is just fun but the alien thing is fun and likely there's something going on and so I go back and forth sometimes I think it maybe it's some sort of government drone that's like so sophisticated and they're they you know they it's totally top secret and if we ever go to war with China that's when they're gonna break it out And then sometimes I think what they are is something that's monitoring us and making sure we don't blow ourselves up making sure that we we make this journey from territorial apes with thermonuclear weapons into some sort of an advanced intergalactic society And that there's a very crucial moment where the instincts of these tribal people which is all of us all human beings with these tribal territorial people where you have to keep them from sabotaging any possible future progress by blowing themselves up by killing each other by what if we talk to them and then they and then then when you say that they go yeah that was it Is that easy Like not that easy but like you just go is that it you go Yeah that's about it We're trying to keep you guys This is like but maybe that's like the natural thing that you see like when civilizations advance like there's a very precarious moment where like they have the capability of blowing themselves up But the reason and the logic to not do it but they also have these instincts to control resources and take over territories They still have those instincts but they have to bypass that They have to figure out how to And so that's when aliens start circling and and just keeping an eye on us this is that that's the point That's what you would hope Right Instead of like them attacking us Yes because I think if they were gonna attack us they would have already done it Like if they really could do all those things they could probably take out our power grid pretty easy Apparently they're they the the stories are that they're able to shut down nuclear launches and nuclear facilities and that they do that and they they they hover over military bases and that they just shut everything down just to let you know hey bitch you know I can just flip that switch So don't get too fucking squirrely out That's so crazy