

Parents, bosses, managers, are you leading with fear?? #garyvee #shorts

I took some action today Talked to my son this morning told him I was sergeant being a dick That's humongous That's the biggest thing you can straight away That means the world to me You can't imagine how big of a deal that will be Thank you Do you know how much he appreciated that Absolutely good for you The world parents and manages and runs governments and companies predominantly weaponizing fear Fear is the currency of our world We're going to cancel you or shame you we're gonna call you bad How many people here are parents Raise your hands Think for a second of the things that come out of your mouth If you you better Not by the way it works in the short term The problem is it doesn't work in the long term It leads to massive resentment it leads to under performing We've been sold a bag of bullshit where your growth is gonna be as continuity and growth of your people When people are happy they perform better Not when they're scared
