

Want to be happier? Try this #garyvee #shorts

But this headline really has me hyped for my video for this evening People are really confused out here A lot of people are upset not happy and they don't realize one of the reasons that is is they themselves are not nice enough You want to be fucking happier Have this crazy ass concept Maybe if you take the offense and actually are more kind more often bringing more love to more people people that are close to you random fucking strangers If you just start going out of your fucking way to be kind miraculously you become a happier person Too many glass half empty motherfuckers on the earth How about really understanding how this game is actually played Make this moment the second you deploy fucking kindness and happiness it'll change your life