

MAX LYONS | MARQUETTE GOLF

<https://silosolo.com/441559>

Summary

This Silo talks about the speaker's experience in preparing for college golf, facing challenges in transition from other sports, dealing with recruitment during COVID-19, learning key skills and strategies in college golf, and offering advice to high school golfers in the NIL space.

Silo sample questions

- What is the most important advice for high school golfers preparing for college golf?
- What were the main challenges faced by the speaker in preparing for college golf?
- How did COVID-19 impact the speaker's recruitment process?
- What are the key skills or strategies that the speaker learned in college golf?
- What advice does the speaker offer to high school golfers in the NIL (Name, Image, Likeness) space?

Topics

College Golf

Recruitment

Challenges

Skills

NIL

Key Takeaways

- The most important advice for high school golfers preparing for college golf is to focus on ball striking and iron game, spend time on the range working through swing thoughts, and focus on being patient and staying relaxed during tournaments.

- The main challenges faced by the speaker included starting competitive golf late in high school, facing a time gap compared to other players, and managing the transition from other sports to golf. Academic challenges and time management in college were also major challenges.

- COVID-19 impacted the speaker's recruitment process by limiting in-person visits with coaches and requiring virtual meetings. The speaker's improved performance during COVID and his success in tournaments played a significant role in recruitment.

- The speaker learned the importance of course management, strategic preparation for tournaments, and the significance of putting inside 8 feet. Additionally, the speaker highlighted the need for time management and proactive communication with professors to balance academics and golf.

- The speaker advises high school golfers to be intentional and selective about NIL deals, ensuring that partnerships align with their interests and beliefs. He emphasizes the importance of working with brands that are aligned with their passions. Additionally, the speaker details his experience of working with golf apparel brands and supplement brands in the NIL space.

Click here for the full transcript

Click here for the source